Attention:
Farmers, agronomists and persons who work in field scouting and assessing crop health!

Register for the Crop Diagnostic School, held in Carman, Manitoba, in July. At the school, you will:

- learn more about scouting fields and recognizing potential problems
- participate in training on the latest crop management issues, including herbicide injury and residue; weed identification; nutrient deficiencies; insect and disease identification and scouting; current disease, insect and weed concerns; and soil, water and fertilizer management
- attend field plot demonstrations, which address herbicide injury, product performance and integrated weed management strategies that go beyond the use of crop inputs
- fine-tune your trouble-shooting and crop management skills
- learn about the interacting factors of nutrient, pest and environmental stress

Attending the school will also provide credits towards Certified Crop Science Consultant and Certified Crop Advisor certification.
