

EAST SIDE PLANNING INITIATIVE

by The East Side Round Table with Manitoba Conservation Sustainable Resource Management Branch

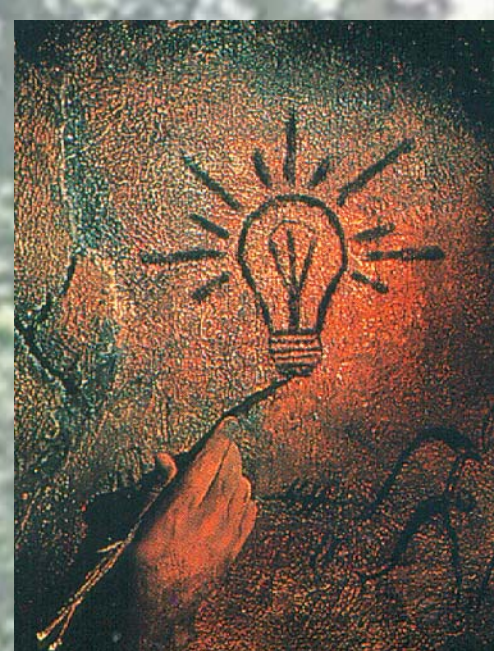

We are pleased to introduce the East Side Planning Initiative. The following panels provide background information on the purpose of the planning initiative, significant characteristics defining the planning area and what we have learned from the east side communities, about the needs and future directions for the region.

You are invited to view the following display which will provide you with an overview of the east side planning framework, regional context, challenges and opportunities.

What kind of region the east side of Lake Winnipeg will be in the 21st century is an important question affecting all communities and stakeholders.

This process is intended as a first step in answering that question. It is about making the right choices and planning sustainable futures for the region's communities, resources and environment.

Fundamental to the preparation of the east side plan is the understanding that the views of communities located in the area are of primary importance. Further, the understanding that future decision making will need to integrate environmental, social and economic perspectives.

We are interested in your views on a future vision for the east side area.

Thank you for taking the time to review the display and providing us with your suggestions.

For your convenience the open house includes a comment sheet that seeks your views on the key questions we believe to be fundamental to the east side's future quality of life.

Please take the opportunity to share your ideas at our discussion tables and/or record them in our open house questionnaire.

THANK YOU!
