Domestic Violence Destroys Families

MAYBE IT'S SOMEONE YOU KNOW...

Veillez noter que vous pouvez également obtenir ce dépliant en français en appelant le 204 945-1709.

Manitoba

Sounds like anyone you know?

Domestic violence follows a vicious cycle that often explodes in violence or other abuse. Afterward, the abuser is full of sadness, promising "it will never happen again."

But it does happen again.
And again and again.

THE CYCLE OF VIOLENCE

TENSION BUILD-UP

Tensions gradually build.

EXPLOSION

Tensions reach a certain point, explosion or fight occurs.

REMORSE OR HONEYMOON

A period of great remorse and apology. Often promises are made that it will never happen again.

Maybe it's someone you know...

Domestic violence happens to people who are married, single, old, young, rich, poor, professional, blue-collar, unemployed, heterosexual, homosexual, drinkers and non-drinkers and of every ethnic and religious group. It could be happening to someone you know, someone you care about...

Everyone in our community has a role to play in ending domestic violence, so it's important to know the signs:

- frequent injuries from "accidents"
- increased isolation from family and friends
- jumpiness
- depression
- fear of the partner
- dwindling self-esteem
- partner's jealousy or possessiveness
- constant criticism from partner

Don't let domestic violence destroy another Manitoba family. It might be someone you know...

Why doesn't she just leave?

Some of the reasons why victims of emotional or physical abuse stay in abusive relationships are fear, low self-esteem, a sense of helplessness, economic dependence, or "for the children's sake."

The littlest victims

Sadly, children who are exposed to violence may grow up believing abuse is part of a normal relationship. As they learn what they live, many may grow up to be abusers or abuse victims themselves.
