

Designated Trainer Work Experience Application Trade of Lather (Interior Systems Mechanic)

NOTE: Effective April 1, 2003, all NEW applicants wanting trades training as apprentices must work under the supervision of a certified journeyman unless a specific Trade Regulation provides accommodation for an alternate arrangement.

The Trade Regulation for Lather (Interior Systems Mechanic) allows a provision to use a designated trainer (an experienced tradesperson without journeyman certification) to supervise the work of and train an apprentice. A journeyman with a Certificate of Qualification as a Drywall Mechanic can also supervise and train an apprentice.

To qualify as a designated trainer in this trade, you must have:

- experience in 70 per cent of the tasks of the trade
- at least six years of work experience in the trade within the last ten years

Please provide the following information so we can assess the training and supervision you will be giving your apprentice:
