Henderson retired to the Red River Settlement in 1865 (B.239/g/42, fo. 302) as agreed when he contracted with the Company in 1859. Under the terms of the contract he was also to have received a grant of twenty-five acres from the Company's land at Red River (A.32/32, fo.211d). However, no references to such a grant have been traced. He remained on the Company's books as a freeman, located in the Red River Settlement until 1871 and in the Lac la Pluie district (present day Lake of the Woods) until 1873 (B.239/g/42-49). No references to him have been traced after 1873.
