

Disability Supports for First Nations People Living On-Reserve

What disability supports may be available for First Nations people living on-reserve?

Disability supports for First Nations people living on reserve are provided through the Government of Canada. The following websites have information on some of the supports that may be available.

- Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada (INAC)

- www.ainc-inac.gc.ca/ap/index-eng.asp

These sites have information on INAC programs:

- Assisted Living Program – www.ainc-inac.gc.ca/hb/sp/alp-eng.asp
- Income Assistance Program – www.ainc-inac.gc.ca/hb/sp/iap-eng.asp
- Education Programs – www.aadnc-aandc.gc.ca/eng/1100100033601/1100100033605

- Health Canada

- hc-sc.gc.ca/

These sites have information on Health Canada programs:

- Non-Insured Health Benefits – hc-sc.gc.ca/fniah-spnia/nihb-ssna/index-eng.php
- Home and Community Care Program – hc-sc.gc.ca/fniah-spnia/services/home-domicile/index-eng.php
- Family Health – hc-sc.gc.ca/fniah-spnia/famil/index-eng.php

Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC)

- Office for Disability Issues – www.hrsdc.gc.ca/eng/disability_issues/mandate/index.shtml

Other services and supports may also be available, depending on the resources in each community.

