The Land Emergency Medical Response System Regulation requires that clinical care be provided in accordance with protocols and procedures as established by the provincial medical director, and that EMS Personnel perform their patient care duties and functions in accordance with the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Protocols and Procedures published by the minister in 2015, as amended from time to time.

Each person must:

1. Maintain a valid Manitoba personnel licence and remain compliant with the Manitoba Continuing Competence Program for Paramedics (MCCPP).
2. Have satisfactory education and training, and maintain sufficient clinical experience relevant to the delegated medical function(s).
3. Maintain satisfactory knowledge and appropriate psychomotor skills for the safe performance of all delegated medical functions.
4. Maintain the physical ability to perform the delegated medical functions in a safe and satisfactory manner. Immediately inform the medical director and license holder if unable to perform any medical functions in a safe and satisfactory manner due to illness, injury, impairment or other change in physical ability.
5. Perform all delegated medical functions in accordance with procedures and protocols as established by the PMD.
6. Perform all patient care duties and functions in accordance with the EMS Protocols and Procedures.
7. Document any medical functions performed in the patient care record (PCR) in accordance with the EMS Protocols and Procedures as published by the Minister.
8. Document any significant adverse occurrence during the conduct of any core or specialized medical function(s) performed in the PCR and convey that information to the health care provider who will be accepting that patient's care.
9. Report any significant adverse occurrence during the conduct of any core or specialized medical function(s) to the PMD and the Emergency Medical Services Branch (EMSB) as soon as possible, and in accordance with Critical Incident and Disclosure Reporting guidelines of Manitoba Health Seniors and Active Living.
