

2025 SPRING SUPPLEMENT HUNTING GUIDE

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

As the Minister of Natural Resources and Indigenous Futures, I am pleased to present the 2025 Spring Supplement of the Manitoba Hunting Guide.

Manitoba is home to some of the most expansive and treasured natural resources in the world. Our government is deeply committed to the sustainable management of these resources while ensuring that hunting opportunities continue. Our hunting traditions not only provide food security, but also contribute to the economic and social well-being of our province.

Populations of white geese, Canada geese, wild turkeys and black bears are abundant, offering hunters excellent opportunities this spring season.

I would also like to extend my sincere gratitude to those who have participated in the newly designed Hunter Harvest Surveys. The information you provide through these surveys are invaluable to the province and were streamlined for your convenience. Your insights into harvest rates, success levels and hunting trends help us make informed decisions about the future of hunting in Manitoba. I encourage all hunters to continue sharing their harvest information this season.

Through licences and draw applications, hunters also play an essential role in conservation. A portion of the revenue supports the Fish and Wildlife Enhancement Fund, which invests in projects aimed at preserving our natural resources and sustaining wildlife for future generations.

Manitoba has a proud hunting heritage, and we are committed to ensuring a plentiful future for all.

Wishing you a safe, successful, and rewarding spring hunting season.

Honourable Ian Bushie

Every fall, as hunting season is upon us, there's a special kind of energy that fills the air with a sense of excitement and anticipation for those days spent in the outdoors. This photo, taken this past October at Delta Marsh, really captures that feeling we all share as we head into another waterfowl season. Delta Marsh is widely recognized as one of North America's top spots for ducks, and it's easy to see why.

It's not just the incredible variety of species that call it home, but also the fast-paced action that makes every hunt feel alive. For many of us, it's more than just a place to hunt—it's a reminder of the tradition, camaraderie, and thrill of being out there, year after year.

Feature story submitted by Cloyd Barth and Joe Starodub.

SPRING CONSERVATION GOOSE HUNTING SEASONS AND BAG LIMITS

The giant Canada goose population in southern Manitoba has grown substantially since 1990. The breeding population was estimated at a peak of 234,600 in 2019, the highest recorded since 1955. Environment and Climate Change Canada declared the breeding population of Canada geese in southern Manitoba (GBHZ 3 & 4) as overabundant. This declaration has enabled Manitoba to implement a Spring Conservation Canada Goose Season. Hunting is considered the most efficient means to reduce the population size of an overabundant population.

To participate in these seasons, hunters require the previous year's (2024) Canada Migratory Game Bird Hunting Permit and Wildlife Habitat Conservation Stamp licences which are available online at www.permits-permits.ec.gc.ca and a Manitoba no charge 2025 Spring Conservation Goose Licence also available online at www.manitobaelicensing.ca.
