Julie-

I'm sorry for the delay on this response.

Regarding noise monitoring, your comment suggests that a calibrated noise monitor is recommended. Does this mean that it is required? Recorded levels have remained reasonably consistent since we started taking readings unless there are other factors (trains, traffic, etc) outside of our operations that are out of our control.

Regarding reducing noise impacts, there are limited things that we can do in such an effort. For safety purposes, we must leave back up sirens on all moving equipment. We have used "walls" of trailers to try to insulate the sound from the shredder. However, we are operating a heavy industrial operation with M3 zoning in an industrial park so I am not certain, other than continuing to monitor, what options we have left.

I don't believe you were looking for clarification on the shredder explosions or air quality monitoring sections of the letter but please let me know if you do.

In terms of soil and water monitoring, we were told that we should be re-sampling every 5 years after the baseline year, which would take us to 2022.

In regards to ASR sampling, the samples are taken quarterly and tested at the end of the year. The reference in the report was incorrect and can be updated.

I am available to discuss this further at your request.

Regards
Josh
