Gyles Campground

- Keep a lookout for woodland caribou and moose grazing Manitoba Lowlands.

Gyles Campground is located in Grass River Provincial Park on the south shore of Simonhouse Lake. “Simonhouse” is named for Bill Simon who ran the Revillion Freres Trading Company post or “house” in the area.

Simonhouse is one of the two headwater lakes, the other is First Cranberry, of the Grass River system. The southern half of the lake’s basin is dominated by limestone of the Manitoba Lowlands. The northern half’s granite shores are part of the Canadian Shield. The limestone helps account for the clarity of Simonhouse’s water. Once into the “Narrows” in the north end of the lake the water begins to darken as the tea-colored Shield water flows in, at places like aptly named Ink Creek. The campground features the park’s only accessible beach, shaded campsites, play structures and a boat launch. A solar heated gravity shower is available and a solar powered water treatment plant provides drinking water. There are no public phone at Gyles. Keep a lookout for some of Grass Rivers most popular animals including: woodland caribou, woodpeckers and moose.
